R v MA, Woolwich Crown Court

securing an acquittal for our client who faced an allegation of murder.

Operation Pochade, St Albans Crown Court

We represent the lead individual on the indictment accused of murder and manslaughter.

This is a complex matter given the number of defendants, as well as the unusual facts. Our client and his co-defendants are linked to the death of an individual who was found bound and duct-taped in his home. Neighbours to the flat describe hearing sounds equivalent to a party and rough sex taking place. The evidence relied on at the early stages of the case includes, CCTV, cell site and intelligence.

Theft, Burglary & Robbery

Operation Remmington, Harrow Crown Court

Client was accused of dwelling burglaries along with three others. An argument was successfully made that our client had no case to answer.

Operation Fulford, Snaresbrook Crown Court

We represent an individual with substantive ties to a European-wide OCG of conspiracy to commit burglary of jewellery and diamond shops in London.

Operation Longtail, Birmingham Crown Court

We represented an individual accused of conspiracy to commit burglary and conspiracy to commit armed robbery. Our client and his co-Defendants were linked to 25 different robberies throughout West Midlands of convenience stores and business addresses for cars, ATM cashpoint machines as well as cash.

Drugs

Operation Orochi, Ipswich Crown Court

We represented a 15-year-old youth accused of involvement in high-volume drug supply through a county line between Colchester and London as well as leading a county line in Chertsey.

The defendant relied on the defence under s.45 Modern Slavery Act. Two days before trial exculpatory evidence in police possession was exposed. These were over 100 documents yet undisclosed. The prosecution offered no evidence and the defendant was acquitted.

Operation Boreas, Birmingham Crown Court

We represented a young father who was in a 182-day, 14-hander trial at Birmingham Crown Court.

He was apparently the joint head of an alleged Organised Crime Group accused of involvement in high-volume drug supply and extreme violence, as indicated by the discovery of firearms and ammunition over several months.

During the trial, we successfully argued against the inclusion of damaging last-minute evidence of a shooting.

The defendant was acquitted, save for conspiracy to supply Class B (cannabis) to which our client had pleaded at the outset.

Confiscation, Cash Forfeiture and Cash Detention

Operation Divermount, Leeds Crown Court

Represented 'The General', the mastermind behind a gang who carried out high value jewellery robberies across Europe. Obtained a nominal confiscation order.

Operation Fulford, Southwark Crown Court

This case relies on intelligence from other operations including Operation Babul and Operation Archer. These were intelligence led investigations against an Organised Crime Group that were producing forged/ counterfeit documents and facilitating people unlawfully into the United Kingdom and European states. This involved a challenge over the assumption of criminal lifestyle, based on consideration of high value luxury items seized by the police as criminal property.
